The sprinkles gave these Mallows a party feel and most expected this sweet treat to appeal to kids. Great value at £1 making them a handy family treat over the festive season.

Fever Tree Spiced Orange Ginger Ale

A tempting twist on Ginger Beer from this well respected brand. A refreshing blend with sufficient flavour of orange and ginger with plenty of fizz.

A tempting standby, but considered expensive at £2.49 especially after tasting as this was thought to lack the promised mature cheddar cheese flavour: 'tasted like seasoned cabbage. Not exciting'.

Potts Chicken Stock

Convenient but far more expensive than stock cubes and would have to be consumed in 3 days after opening. Not as strongly flavoured as expected leading many to conclude it was 'no better to what's on the market'.

In The Buff Turmeric Fusion Protein Ketchup

No-one knew what to expect from this Ketchup but they were still surprised by the lack of tomato and a strong vinegary taste. The texture was also unexpected: 'gritty' rather than smooth. Half of Reviewers awarded just 1 star.
